

Continuing Support

Get extra time to upgrade or migrate to a fully supported product or version with extended support on end-of-life products.

WORLD-CLASS TECHNICAL SUPPORT

With annual maintenance on your Quest Software product, you receive comprehensive technical assistance from a global team of highly skilled support experts. Additionally, you get upgrade protection, access to the latest software versions and releases, remote technical support, unlimited online self-help resources, optional 24x7 coverage for business-critical outages and optional proactive Premier Support. But what happens when your product nears its end of life, and you need more time to upgrade or migrate? Continuing Support is our solution when you need additional time to upgrade or migrate to a fully supported product or version.

CONTINUING SUPPORT

Continuing Support is a maintenance renewal service option that provides you with one year of limited support after your software has reached its end-of-life or end-of-support date and is no longer supported through maintenance contracts. With Continuing Support, you receive continued access to the same knowledgeable global support team you are working with today.

HOW IT WORKS

You will need to complete your annual software maintenance renewal contract and sign an agreement for Continuing Support.

Continuing Support provides an additional year of limited support beyond your software's end-of-life or end-of-support date.
